119 f-120 e.

2* Traces:   is very probable.

3* Traces: .

4* , rather different from  elsewhere in this MS., e.g. l. 264, ; but of  the tail would be visible.

5* It is of course uncertain where the rubric begins.

6* The text continues. What follows may be a continuation of this Spell or a new Spell.
